

Appleton Kindergarten's Philosophy

The Team at Appleton Kindergarten believe that positive relationships form the backbone of our early education environment.

We believe that children learn best when they feel empowered, know that they have a place and are valued. We provide a warm, responsive and welcoming atmosphere, which encourages children to be independent learners and make choices about their own play and learning.

We believe in establishing professional and reciprocal relationships with parents and whanau. We value our unique bi-cultural heritage and other cultures that make up our kindergarten community.

Children are encouraged to be thoughtful and caring, while respecting others and the setting.
